UpstartED, AN EDUCATIONAL NON-PROFIT, has been collaborating with schools in the Yukon on their fully subsidized, experiential learning You(th) Explore program. The curriculum-aligned program aims to empower youth to be change-makers through focusing on social-emotional learning, civic engagement, and entrepreneurship. The learning journey is comprised of three modules, delivered through pre-recorded online materials, and a You(th) Explore box that contains workbooks and tactile tools delivered to each student! As part of their intentional efforts to best serve and empower youth in Yukon, they are collaborating with schools and educators to design and implement the You(th) Explore program in a culturally responsive way. If interested in learning more, please contact Yasemin, Education Community Builder, at yasemin@upstarted.org.

KNOW SOMEONE TEACHING ECONOMICS? The Bank of Canada is looking for educators who bring economics into the classroom. The award is open to teachers (grades 7 to 12) who have creatively explored economics concepts or topics whether they teach history, economics, business, math or languages. Topics may include early trade in Canada, financial markets, the future of work, inflation and interest, or the green economy. More information can be found at www.bankofcanadamuseum.ca/learn/museum-award-teaching-excellence/. Applications close April 10, 2022, at 11:59 p.m. ET.
